Morrigan

Suidakra

[Music & Lyrics by Suidakra]Once, on another weary day of mine
Just when the sun began to fondle mother earth
On a hill I stood to behold this crimson embrace
A stricken field to my feet (under bloody mist)
Myriad hollow staring eyesWrapped in red clouds
The corvine goddess appeared
Emptiness filled my mind
Fervid thoughts crawled suddenly into me...Morrigan - three faced goddess dark and wild
For thee I`ll raise my sword and shield
Morrigan - grimest crow beneath the sky
May the eyes of thousands please thy raging greedCome forth now grimest crow
Thou cry shall shatter earth and sky
...Like a shrieking carnyce...In thy shadow I shall stand forevermore
I send thee hail and eternal troth...
Night descended and the stars within my eyes
Cleared my mind and aflamed my heart
I flee thy corvine ireMorrigan - three faced goddes dark and wild
For thee they rose their swords and shields
Morrigan - grimest crow beneath the sky
May the eyes of thousands please thy raging greed - but not mine...
