

Let Me Go

Marvelous 3

Turn the TV off, put down the cosmopolitan

I'd like to think that I'm not asking a lot

Oh my god, this static is bad for my complexion

This town has turned you into someone you're not And every other day I hear another brother say

That I'm standing in line Please, just let me go, just let me go

And if it's all over, just tell me so, just tell me so

Please, just let me go

And I won't be your shadow anymore I passed the house last night, knowing it was my last time

I'd see the dent of anger kicked in your car

In the rear view mirror, thoughts of sex cross my mind

Looks like the drama queen is finally a star And every other day I hear another brother saying that

I'm crazy, for lying to myself and you for trying Please, just let me go, just let me go

And if it's all over, just tell me so, just tell me so

Please, just let me go

And I won't be your shadow anymore You lost your mind, I lost my keys

Sometime last night, when I was on my knees

I miss the smile, that you traded for the cold piece of armor

Wrapped around your heart Please, just let me go, just let me go

And if it's all over, just tell me so, just tell me so

Please, just let me go

And I won't be your shadow anymore
