Rosi Golan

I love our silences more
More than the things we say
Might have our differences
But deep down we're one and the sameBut I've been burned so bad
Can't help it if I pull awayWhen the world's on fire you kiss me
And you say it'll be alright
Oh and the more I try to resist you
The more I seem to slide into the fireI'm tired of not trusting me
For trying to trust in you
Must be so exhausting for you
Questioning all that you doBut I've been burned so bad
Can't help it if I pull awayWhen the world's on fire you kiss me
And you say it'll be alright
Oh, and the more I try to resist you
The more I seem to slide into the fireYou're dealing with it well
Considering how, how crazy it is
To carry on like this
When everything's so perfectWhen the world's on fire you kiss me
And you say it'll be alright
Oh and the more I try to resist you
The more I seem to slide into the fire
