I Was Totally Destroying It

Evergreen
Outlining the highway
Wolverines
At my old bedroom window

We used to kiss when we were kids
We didn't know what it meant yet

Where did it go, why did it go, and leave me
Where did it go, why did it go, and leave me
Where did it go, why did it go away for the winter

You wrote to me
With pen and ink
Some letters from Missouri
I don't know why you stopped writing
With your mid-western fury
Now Holiday Inns are dimly lit
Lonely on a mattress
I've got Emerald Isle, telephone dial, an empty box of matches

Where did it go, why did it go, and leave me
Where did it go, why did it go, and leave me
Where did it go, why did it go away for the winter

Tell me why'd it have to go
I don't think I'll ever know
Oh tell me
