

Dirty Girl

Fisher

I had your name
In my head with Mrs. on it
You had no clue what
Mine was but did not care
I came looking
For the mate of my soul, you were
Out looking for someone just for the night
So here I go again, dirty girl, lay me down
Pleased to meet you
There you go, now you know a dirty girl
Pleased to leave me
Oh, don't say goodbye
Well, oh, don't say goodbye
I fell asleep
To the sound of your heart beating
But I woke up when
You asked me to please leave
You said nothing personal, it's impossible
You can't fall asleep
With a girl you don't know, well, aah hell
Here I go again, dirty girl, lay me down
Pleased to meet you
There you go, now you know a dirty girl
Pleased to leave
You always say goodbye
Why do they always say goodbye?
Walking home, 4 a.m., once again
Here I go again, dirty girl, lay me down
Pleased to meet you, dirty girl
There you go, now you know a dirty girl
Pleased to leave
You always say goodbye
Why do they always say goodbye?
I am walking in the rain
With my shoes in my hand
And look stupid in a cocktail dress
10 a.m. and I can't get a cab
Have you seen my shoes?
I call you

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>