

I Float Alone

Julee Cruise

Floating through this darkness, all alone
Love is gone in darkness, cold as a stone
Searching through the shadows you have known
Love's gone, bare as a bone Trying to hold the memory face
You seem to have vanished without a trace
And in this darkness, this empty space
I float alone Now the night is falling, you have gone
Sad dreams blow through dark trees, love's gone wrong
Clouds of sadness raining all night long
Love's gone, the end of our song I float alone
