

Your World Will Hate This

Orange Goblin

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Turning you on to a world full of shit
Twisted beyond a return
Filling our brain with a lot of cocaine
'Cos I got money to burn We know that your world will hate this
This is what we do to survive Reeking of ether and terminal madness
Trapped in a psycho disguise
I've got the heart of a wolf and I'm thinking
This is the best way to die We know that your world will hate this
This is what we do to survive This is the world that I share with the clowns
Loaded on vice and disease
Filling your head with an urge to be dead
The least you could do is say please We know that your world will hate this
This is what we do to survive We know that your world will hate this
This is what we do to survive
