Unprepared

Superdrag

We carried you there, so unprepared
So unprepared to be grieving
Don't tarry with care, take to the air
So unaware you'd be leavingAnd now, I'm here to say
I shall never be right again
How can I pray
He'll return what he's taken away?We carried you there, so unprepared
So unprepared to be grieving
Don't tarry with care, take to the air
So unaware you'd be leavingAnd now, I'm here to say
I shall never be right again
How can I pray
He'll return what he's taken away?On another day, any other day
We'd open our eyes, you'd be alive
On another day, any other day
We'd open our eyes, you'd be aliveYou would still be alive
You would still be alive
You would still be alive
You would still be alive
