

The Thrash Particle

Modern Baseball

Didn't watch your ex's set
I just left and thought about you
Like when your teeth graze those lips; when you begin to smile
Later, you took my hand, you led us to the doorway
But you let go of me once you saw all your friends
And I've known you forever, at least that's what I tell Jake
When I'm too drunk to walk home, when your brother's away
You suggested I write a song about the first time we met
But I can't seem to remember where or when Couldn't watch your ex's set
Instead, I wrote this song about you
Thought, 'Would you show your kids if you found the time was right?'
You'd tell them where and when
You never I thought I'd leave the east coast
We were young and full of sin, and I too dumb to understand
Yet, I've loved you forever, at least that's what I tell Holt
When I'm too drunk to lie, to drugged to be alone
You suggested I write a song about the first time we met
But I don't want to remember there or then
So, is this the you wanted? Is it stuck inside your head?
Can you sing it with your friends, or alone?
So, am I what you needed?
Said you loved me to my face, grin and gossip, walk away,
And then go:
'So, is this the you wanted?'
Sing about me to my friends, while you're just stuck inside your head,
All alone
Oh, you were all I needed
Said I loved you to your face, but you just laughed and walked away
