Lost & Damned

Kamelot

Helena, you came to me
When seemingly life had begun
Little did I know then
Where this would go when this begunOnce I was free to fly
I never promised anything
This may well be goodbyeDon't ask why, don't be sad
Sometimes we all must alter paths we planned
Only try, understand
I want to save you from the lost & damnedAlthough you hold me close
I feel retention arise
Just as a hint of fear
Like subtle clouds in summer skiesOnce in the moonlight
I can't explain and I don't know
Somehow we may reuniteDon't ask why, don't be sad
Sometimes we all must alter paths we planned
Don't forget what we had
But let me save you from the lost & damnedLove means nothing to me
If there is a higher place to beHelena, don't you cry
Believe me, I do this for you
Heed my decision now
I will be gone tomorrow noonMy tale has just begun
Nothing can take my faith away
In my quest for the sunDon't ask why, don't be sad
Sometimes we all must alter paths we planned
Only try, understand
I want to save you from the lost & damnedDon't ask why, don't be sad
Sometimes we all must alter paths we planned
Leave me behind, don't look back
'Cause deep within you know, I'm lost & damned
