Manila

Mongo Santamaria, Mongo Santamarias Men

On my plane to manila
Passengers sit row to row
The flight staff served the curry chicken!
And then I heard the turbine go
Yeah...

Out of my window was the sunset,
On the wing a funny glow,
Then my seat started rattling,
Assured that wasn't part of the show,

So I started to dance,
Without wearing no seat belt
So I started to dance,
Without wearing no life vest,
I started to dance..

My plane noise went down,
I heard the pilot talk regrets,
But the people didn't panic,
They just all, stared at me,

And they started to dance,
Without wearing no seat belts,
We all started to dance,
Without wearing no life vest,
We all started to dance,

It was quiet a ride.

So I started to dance,
Without wearing no seat belts
So I started to dance,
Without wearing no life vest,
I started to dance...

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by SOLER, BEAT
Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/