

The Here and Now

JamisonParker

Friday night here come the crowds
And we're swallowed whole but we breathe alone
    In the here and now
    All these voices melting down
    I shut my eyes and I try to hide
In the here and now I can see the truth in your eyes Whisper words I'll never hear
    Through the deafening, through the broken scene
    Through the endless fear
    Faith and flood is rushing out
    When you look at me, I can see the truth
In the here and now I can see the truth in your eyes We're lost in the lights and sound
    The walls all melt to the ground
    And if you don't believe
    I will tear the sky down right now
    We're lost in the lights and sound
    The walls all melt to the ground
    And if you can't believe
I will tear the sky down for you We're deafening and the broken screams
    I can hear the truth I can see the truth in your eyes
    We're lost in the lights and sound
    The walls all melt to the ground
    And if you don't believe
    I will tear the sky down right now
    We're lost in the lights and sound
    The walls all melt to the ground
    And if you can't believe
    I will tear the sky down for you
    We're lost in the lights and sound
    The walls all melt to the ground
    And if you don't believe
    I will tear the sky down right now
