Through The Night

The Elms

Hey I'm the guy who found a treasure in your eyes
And that's no surprise, there's something 'bout you clearly
I can't recall all the ones I've met before
They move on by and leave me nothing to believe inThough the night may grow, the winds may blow
And the rain it falls from out into nowhereThrough the night you learn what it is to yearn
When you cannot find the girl
Through the night you feel how it is to kneel
Asking God for all the worldDrove all the way to drop a circus in your face
If that's what it takes, I'll do it every day now
Still for your smile, I would run another mile
Barefoot and bruised and laughing all the whileWell the rising sun says the night is done
Yeah, the day will come after the darknessThrough the night you learn what it is to yearn
When you cannot find the girl
Through the night you feel how it is to kneel
Asking God for all the worldThrough the night you learn what it is to yearn
When you cannot find that girl
Through the night you feel how it is to kneel
Asking God for all the worldThrough the night you learn what it is to yearn
When you cannot find the girl
Through the night you feel how it is to kneel
Asking God for all the worldThrough the night you learn what it is to yearn
When you cannot find the girl
Through the night you feel how it is to kneel
Asking God for all the worldAsking God for all the world
Asking God for all the world
