Parallel Lines

Junior Boys

If you found the words

Would you really say them?

Or silent through the verse

Will mumble punctuation? Remembering the line

An empty metaphor

That you savor by yourself

Your never cureIf I forgot the lines

Is it easy enough to fake it?

Or do you need a moment to memorize

And model it like a curse half disguised? Leers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think so Give me a little room

To get on with concentration

Just enough to know

What I'm missing in educationBorrowing all the hours that you gave to me

It's a wonder I could ever breathe

Under all our thoughts

You'll hear the final whisperOf all the things you are that have been paralleled All the voices that were raised and finally fellLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think soNo lights, no show, no sex

That's all you get

No wait, no calls

No remittance for what you knowLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think soLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think soLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think soLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think soLeers, cheers, whispers and tears

The final taste before you're taken away

Odds, ends, final amends

It's all right to say it

Just as long as you don't really think so

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/