

Feel That Love Again (feat. Graham Brown)

Blackmill

I will find this true place I belong
These tricks these traits that seem to lead to oh so wrong
I seem to find where I have been so blind
Clear these dusty eyes so I can be so kind
Go back, go back and feel that love again
A feeling inside with a thought so pure
My body might leave it behind but this time has been my cure
I seem to have found this remedy of belief
And found my faith in you, for you are my relief
I have found these places where I belong, where I belong
And followed all the traces to feel that love again
To feel that love again
I feel that love again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>