

friends and alibis.

Escape the Fate

Oh, I hate to be the one to bear the bad news
Yes, it is true
I finally fell in love
I fell so hard that I'm killing myself
Yes, I need out
Out of this grave that I've dug And all the friends that I have gone through
And how much I deserve the pain
It's a shame So hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night Oh, they always told me I was gorgeous in a way
And that fateful day
I found who I was
So fill this hole with my prescriptions
I just keep feeding my addictions And all the friends that I have gone through
And how much I deserve the pain
It's a shame So hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night
We will have our night You were the ones that stood by my side, whoa
And I was the one that fought all of your fights
Go! (Hold your head, hold it up high) Whoa
(Keep this close by your side) Whoa So hold your head
Hold it high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night Hold your head
Hold it up high
Here's to the friends that were alibis
Keep this close by your side
When I come home we will have our night

We will have our night
