

Who's Thinking About You Now?

Jason Mraz

Who's thinking about you now?
If you were building a wall, who would tear it all down and pull you
Through?
Who's thinking about you?
Who'd care enough to send you flowers, that you could call at all hours,
And give your love to?
Somebody must believe if they could see what I see
If they haven't, well they will Baby they all will
Just when you suspect that life couldn't get no harder, something comes Along and makes your dark day darker
The weight of it all falls on you
Who will be the one to listen when it's time to listen?
Who will be the one to miss you when you've gone missing?
Well, I do.
Do I qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify, qualify?
I want to be the one to help you ignore Mr. Loneliness peeking his head
Into your door.
I'm hoping you can feel me.
I'm hoping you can give me a new chance, chance, yes
I'm hoping that you notice I'm your last chance
I feel like starting something.
I feel like calling off today to be with you.
Yeah, I beleive we all do something that's familiar like a deja vu,
Familiar like a deja vu
Yeah, and I know this one cause I've seen the fight and I know it love
We're giving it up
Do I quallify, quallify, quallify, quallify, quallify?
I want to be the one to help you move from Mr. Loneliness living in the Kitchen of your home.
I'm hoping you can feel me.
I'm hoping that I don't run out of breath, breath, yeah.
Ooh... Ooh...
whistles
Yes ma'am, yes ma'am, yes ma'am
I am thinking about you.
Yes ma'am, yes ma'am, yes ma'am
I am thinking about you.
When you're sleeping, darling when you're next to me,

I scan you like a credit card, connecting freckles like I do the stars
Yes ma'am, yes ma'am, yes ma'am
I am thinking about you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>