

Tragic Tragic Track Jacket

Heavy Heavy Low Low

it was faulty foundation said the weeping eyes the architecture bends under pressure the architecture broke over lies they said its just a trend just a trend they said its just a phase just a phase (its the utter realism of the above stated facts that hit windows like a train and faces like an axe in the time it took to pick up the phone your cover is blown) they were right now every person in this place will give their fucking lives (over its over your gone) i am a burning building bringing everyone inside to the ground in the time it takes to make things right we'll make new memories this feeling will have passed i'll have said goodbye you'll have gone and went i'll have turned my back on the only meaning in my past what destroys me will have saved my life we are gone i am a burning building bringing everyone inside to the ground

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>