Seed of Memory

Terry Reid

Brave dreams that are kindled from ashes
Rise out over all the battle below
Spread wings over all that he passesSo his life can stay immortal to his country
All the shades of green that fall beneath this tree
So let the winds of change that rearrange the country
Let it also sow a seed of memoryMarlena in the cool satin sashes
Spread dreams over the battle below
Bring love with a song as she passes
So his life can stay immortal to the countryAnd let every man aware of being free
Mmm, when she talks of times when wine is handed to me
From a face that walked out of a memoryAnd now that the battle is done
And you wake up in the morning
With the sun up in the skySummer never gives you no warning then
Flowers are getting thrown up to cover the mud up on the line
Valleys getting greener and there's Nothing but love on your mindBrave dreams that are kindled from ashes
Rise out over the battle below
Spread wings over all that he passesSo his life can stay immortal to the country
Other shades of the green that brought for me a victory
But the winds of change, have rearranged this country
Let in also sow the seed of memory, yeahLet it always sow the seed of memory, yeah
Let it always sow the seed of memory, yeah
