

Crowded Room

The Academy Is...

Excuse me, yeah Im talking to you
Look in the mirror, could you tell me what you see?
Hard hearts are crashing in a crowded room
You never felt so good, you never felt so free Save you from yourself
Before you start to deal with everyone else
You should have kept it to yourself
Now were looking to fight, this isnt alright Alright, you better hold your scripted tongue
If you ever plan to use those words again
The future doesnt make much sense
With you at the helm with your friends
This is where that ends Youve got a problem here
The tide is turning you inside out This wont take long, your reign is done
We are the innocent ones
You cant take back the damage done
This is the last time you will shine Spare us your excuse
'Cause this exercise of self-abuse
Will swallow everything that you hold dear
The further you are the closer we get The more you need to hold your scripted tongue
If you ever plan to use those words again
The hallways are filled with silence
And gawking stares that dont care
This is where that ends Youve got a problem here
The tide is turning you inside out This wont take long, your reign is done
We are the innocent ones
You cant take back the damage done
This is the last time, last time This wont take long, your reign is done
We are the innocent ones
You cant take back the damage done
This is the last time you will shine
The last time you will shine
The last time you will shine, shine This wont take long, your reign is done
We are the innocent ones
You cant take back the damage done
This is the last time you will shine, shine
This is the last time

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>