In Between the Blinks

Satsang

I have a mother
God is undercover
She has given life to all that she has birthed

Oh, I know that under
It all she wonders
How her boy went off and then began to search

Well I have a lover
Above and under covers
She has seen me grow
And fed me on my way

Well, I hope she knows that
Beneath this great high
I am thinking of the ways to love her more

But it all comes down to how we think
Staying conscious in between the blinks
And it stems
From always wanting more

The path we're on
We grow five feet
But it always ending up so sweet
As I stand here today
Well I never thought I'd say
That I made it
Through the storm and I am home

But anywhere I go
I know I'm always growing more
And I'm grateful for
The spirits that
Im grateful
For the spirits that I meet

I have some friends that
I've lost through this path
They have gotten stuck

No longer choose to learn
But I tend to be fine
With my alone time
Said I no longer cross the bridges that I burn
Well I hope they know this
I hope they knows
How the spirit serves and what its done for me

I said we all control it
Just have to hone in
Said and oh we gods and then we will be free

But it all comes down to how we think
Staying conscious in between the blinks
And it stems
From always wanting more

The path we're on
We grow five feet
But it always ending up so sweet
As I stand here today
Well I never thought I'd say
That I made it
Through the storm and I am home

But anywhere I go
I know I'm always growing more
And I'm grateful for
The spirits that
Im grateful
For the spirits that I meet

Lyrics Submitted by Alex Sielaff

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/