

Say Goodbye

Rev Theory

Hanging by a moment
As time slips away
Tell me was it worth it
Such a heavy price to pay
Give me a minute to say
What I've been meaning to say
Before you take those pictures off the wall Wasn't born an angel
But I still try to fly
I've got this hole inside that nothing satisfies
I know I make my mistakes
I hope that heaven can't wait
So I can make things right before I go on What will you remember, when I say goodbye
Doesn't really matter, what I leave behind
'Cause nothing is forever (Nothing is forever)
Would you even care
If I say goodbye, If I say goodbye Trying live on all of this
But its hard for me to change
Caught up in the crosses, between the love and the hate
Was it the long nights away
Or did the feelings just fade
Your the only light that helped to lead me home What will you remember, when I say goodbye
Doesn't really matter, what I leave behind
'Cause nothing is forever (Nothing is forever)
Would you even care
If I say goodbye, If I say goodbye Is it wrong that were done with yesterday
Is it wrong that we wasted all this time
Is it wrong just to throw it all away
Is it wrong just to leave it all behind

Songwriters

Luzzi, Rich / Jorgensen, Julien / Agoglia, Dave / Mccloskey, Matty / Thomas, Richard B / Bassett,

Dave Published by

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S.
Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>