Simplicity

Karma Sutra

If I could fly I'd come to see you wherever you are I would lie down beside you while you're sleeping and with simplicity ... I'd spend a little time just a little time with you With simplicity, I'd listen to your breath listen to your heart beat

I would be so near, we could push away the fear I'd come to see all of your tears I'd come to see all of your smiles with butterfly eyes ...
And you would know who I am and I would know who you are
