

Queen of the Hours

Electric Light Orchestra

Queen of the hours lies waiting for the wind
To blow away the veil of time
Slowly now the threads of age
Are starting to unwindQueen of the hours, along, along, along
The path of time, of time
She is still, the clock shall tell the tale
When all is well, is wellBlack was the night that came in from the east
And caused the land to sleep
Riding on a storm
It carved a message in Isabella CreekQueen of the hours, along, along, along
The path of time, of time
She is still, the clock shall tell the tale
When all is well, is wellDawn is the death wish night has passed away
It left the sacred flower
Opened up the grave and bowed
Its life unto the queen of hoursQueen of the hours, along, along, along
The path of time, of time
She is still, the clock shall tell the tale
When all is well, is well
