Windows

They say the eyes are the windows to the soul
I guess that's why you hide yours from me my ears hear the powerful words you speak but still I question your integrity

wake up

you say your dream is for all to get along for everyone to dream with you but dreaming is what you do when you're asleep wake up its up to you

they say the eyes are the windows to the soul

to make a change to rearrange all the hate and wrong in your life to set things right you have to fight all destructive apathy
