To Pluto's Moon

My Brightest Diamond

How I tried to catch you while
You ran ahead of me, I lassoed Mars
To see if you were hiding there
But you'd already ran past Jupiter to Pluto's moon
And my rope won't reach that moon
This a state of electrical shock
You were so beautiful
I thought you'd last forever
But you came and you went
When the lights went out
You went like you came
In a lightning bolt
Why did you go like this?
I slam against the wall
It's crushing my skull
Why did you go like this?
I slam against the wall
Of permanence, permanence
Permanence
Why did you go like this?
I slam against the wall
It's crushing my skull
Why did you go like this?
I slam against the wall
Of permanence, permanence
And like a ghost
I'm spinning with you
In circles
The dance of Pluto's moon
