

Anything Goes

Randy Houser

Normally this time of night you wouldn't find me here
I'd be reaching for a good night kiss instead of one more beer
I'd never take a second look at the blonde across the bar
Much less invite her over and let things go this farBut anything goes when every thing's gone
You ain't around to give a damn whether I do right or wrong
So bring it on, anything goes when every thing's goneAnother morning after, a crazy night before
I'm searchin' for my blue jeans on a stranger's bedroom floor
Well, shouldn't I feel guilty? Well, I don't feel a thing
I'd wake her up and say goodbye but I can't recall her nameBut anything goes when every thing's gone
You ain't around to give a damn whether I do right or wrong
So bring it on, anything goes when every thing's goneIf you'd have left a single thread for me to hold on to
I'd have one good reason not to do the things I doBut anything goes when every thing's gone
You ain't around to give a damn whether I do right or wrong
So bring it on, anything goes when every thing's gone
Anything goes, anything goes when every thing's gone
