Just a Game

The Stereo

when you wake up on sunday morning when you wake up but i'm still asleep there is something that youe tired of hiding there is something that youe trying to keep i'm not saying that it time to go home i'm not saying that it time you move on everyone to blame wee all the same and it just a game you don seem to give damn about me you don even want to set me free i am tired of this situation i am tired will you let me be everybody
everyone needs that someone anyone to turn to when this world gets old it all downhill from here you know? this is all over now
i'll leave and youl be a memory when you say goodbye
i'll leave and youl be a memory
will i be your memory?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/