Different Kind Of Free

ZOEgirl

Broken hearts, broken homes
There's a war deep in motion
Fighting hard to find
Some kind of peace of mindBreathing in, breathing out
Missing life, living doubt
Searching for a cure
Some kind of open doorBring it back to the beginning
To the first taste of shame
A fallen world in waiting
Only one could take the blameFast forward to the ending
One truth remains
There's a miracle waiting
For all who speak His nameTake my life, my liberty
It's all but a breath in the grand scheme of things
Oh, I have found eternity
It's a different kind of freeAnd they can't take it from me
Pleading the most worthy cause
For the innocence we lost
With his tears of bloodHe started freedom's flood
As the world's opinions sway
My beliefs will not be changed
Nothing ever can take me from His handBring it back to the beginning
To the first taste of shame
A fallen world in waiting
Only one could take the blameFast forward to the ending
One truth remains
There's a miracle waiting
For all who speak His nameTake my life, my liberty
It's all but a breath in the grand scheme of things
Oh, I have found eternity
It's a different kind of freeAnd they can't take it from me
Yeah, sure I remember
Matter fact it was just last September
She still calls it the fall to rememberLittle Heather when it all came together
Said you remember the first time you met us?
She cried when it rained and blamed the weather
But inside she strained with suicide lettersThe kind of cold you couldn't warm with a sweater
Hardly lasted past December
Said she was headed down to defeat

That's the last you'd seen, and never had dreamedThat's the same little Heather It's who you saw last week
In an instant you couldn't have missed her gleam
As she listened She looked like a distant queen
With a difference there for all to seeShe found a different, a different kind of free
Take my life, my liberty
It's all but a breath in the grand scheme of things
Oh, I have found eternityIt's a different kind of free
And they can't take it from me
Take my life, my liberty
It's all but a breath in the grand scheme of thingsOh, I have found eternity
It's a different kind of free
And they can't take it from me
Take my life, my libertyIt's all but a breath in the grand scheme of things
Oh, I have found eternity
It's a different kind of free
And they can't take it from meIt's so much different
It's a different kind of free
And it's here for you and me
It's a different kind of freeAnd it's here to set you free
It's a different kind of free
