

Colors

Cervello

Just woke up with an empty head
I can't believe that you're gone

The way you shined Brightest of them all
Can not forget your smile

I wish that you were here right now Why did you walk away

the colors that we made have disappeared the life i tried to save is no longer here im locked inside a cage with you nowhere near will i ever see you again

Strangled out
Lost my will to fight
The wounds you caused never heals

You where my sun
The one who gave me light Im left in the dark for real

Im caught inside the mirror put up by you reflecting all the things that you made me do screaming for the angels to help me thought and find the will to go on without you

Lyrics submitted by Don Johnson.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>