

Run Away

Brendan James

Can you feel the room spinning?
Can you feel what's happening?
Walls are caving, colors change.
The red you're wearing turns to grey.

Oceans rise and oceans subside.
The seasons give up and so have I.

Holding you is holding you back from what you could be, what you could have.

Run away, run away before it's too late.
Run away before it's too late.
Run away, run away before it's too late.
Run away before it's too late.
You never what you're gonna find out there.
No, you never know until you look.

Memories as sweet as these,
You cannot take them, they belong to me.

Don't you worry, worry about me.
Don't make this harder than it has to be.

Run away, run away before it's too late to run away.
Run away before it's too late.
Run away, run away before it's too late.
Run away before it's too late.
You never know what you're gonna find out there,
No you never know until you look.
Run away before it's too late.
Run away.

Run away before it's too late to run away.
Run away before it's too late.
Run away before it's too late to run away.
I want you to stay.
You never know what you're gonna find out there.
No you never know until you look.

Lyrics Â© EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>