

Love Remains

Avalon

When the last drop of rain has fallen
When the final note has drifted away
When the earth ceases to turn
And the last fire is burned When the wind stops its ceaseless blowin'
And the last wave has come into shore
When the sun has called it a day
And the stars have all floated away My heart will still be yours always
My dreams will be yours forever
I know I will find nothing has changed
Love, love, love
Love, love, love remains When time is no longer tickin'
When the hour glass runs out of sand
I know you will hold me and then
Forever starts all over again My heart will still be yours always
My dreams will be yours forever
I know I will find nothing has changed
Love, love, love
Love remains
My soul will always be with you
My eyes will always be on you
Through it all I see you stay the same Love, love, love
Love, love, love remains
Love remains like an endless flame
Through the brightest joys
The darkest pain in the end
