The Promise

BEDlight for blueEYES

I can tell by the look in your eyes
the way you disguise, the way you feel about me waiting for this moment to collapse you know i tried to, oh god i tried to break through and everytime i look into your eyes what do I see?
Inside of me?
waiting for this moment to collapse inside my mind.
This time we will run to anywhere you choose I'll give you more than all
I'd slit my throat for just one glimpse into your heart
I can't take this anymore, the constant games you've been playing Everytime you look my way, all the words you try to say are fallin apart. Where does that leave me?
Why is it everytime i close my eyes you're there?
