Better Man

Jessta James

Ok
Check this out
I remember when my daddy had taken me by the hand he said this life is hard, get ahead while you can and boy that man's eye aint no easy way around take too many wrong steps and its a long way down keep climbing but remember no matter what you believe if your searching for an answer, try falling onto your knees there'll be difficult decisions, the kind we all have to make i was standing in your shoes when i first heard my father sayson let me tell you what i know, ive seen that courage just come and go every fallen angel comes back though but some come a little too late man that kind of life is a highway gotta be careful what exit you take gotta lot of miles to cover on just one tank maybe its time to hit the brakes and be a better man dontcha want to be a better mantime went on and i got olderfound my way and made my life i can tell you it all changed on the day that i met my wife made a choice to live it betterwant to be here for my kids want to raise them up with values man just like my parents did ima teach em no ones perfect you sleep in the bed you make and the truth is in the eyes not in them hands that you shake sometimes this life aint fair, and it dont follow your plan but just remember whos upstairs, hes reaching down for your handson let me tell you what i know, ive seen that courage just come and go
gotta lot of miles to cover on just one tank
dontcha want to be a better manyeah, yall listen up when its time to meet my maker want to make it through them gates want to reunite with family and man i can barely wait ima tell em that i love em, took a while to understand but it was coming home to them that made me be a better manson let me tell you what i know, ive seen that courage just come and go

gotta lot of miles to cover on just one tank
dontcha want to be a better man
