Somewhere Else

Travis

Home and away, life goes on the same
Bury the pain and hold on to love
Heal the song, sing along
But what does it changeOh, this life is so confusing
Feels like I'm always losingCome in knowing everything
But don't say a word, till they teach you the way
Words are found too close to the edge
That we don't dare singThis will turn into something else, something else
And when it does, I'll be somewhere else, somewhere else
Where else?And you said, I should be myself
Despite all the wrong, dragging you back
Forgive and then forgone and on and on and onBut this life is so confusing
Feels like I'm always losingAnd this'll turn into something else, something else
But when it does, I'll be somewhere else, somewhere else
Where else?
