

The Other Side

Woods

Lay down
Lay down it down in song? there will always be a space for you meet me on the other side stay down feel the wind between your bones I will always have a space for you meet me on the other side what would you say when you've lost your time tell the teardrop paint the night over and done once again, over and gone feeling backwards we bend inside hit the sidewalk with perfect stride
over and done once again. over and gone lay down feel the weight from head to toe There will always be a place for you
meet me on the other side stay down feel the weight between your bones
i will always have a space for you.
what would you say to tomorrow's sky I dream of sunsets most every night over and done once again. over and gone feeling backwards we bend inside hit the sidewalk with perfect stride over and done once again. over and gone what would you say when you've lost your time
over and done once again over and gone
over and done once again. over and gone once again over and done once again
