Silent Times

Michael Learns to Rock

The cars go screaming by
But I can't hear a thing inside my mind
I couldn't even shout to ask you why
Why you stopped believingNo sound to this heart beat
I only feel the trains beneath my feet
The ground is shaking now or is it me
'cause I've lost all feelingIn this quiet placeThese are silent times
The words wither away
Just like a flower that dies
There's nothing left to sayYou tell yourself you're fine
But inside you despise your quiet lies
There's no way to disguise what's in your eyes
The tears that are streamingAnd how can you explain?
When no one understands a word you say
And everything that's left will fade to grey
And lose all its meaning
What to sayThese are silent times
The words wither away
Just like a flower that dies
There's nothing left to sayAnd these are silent times
We hide it all away
There's nothing left but space
There's nothing left to saveSilence is all you've left behind
Its only purpose to remind
Me of the time I can't rewind
There's nothing left to saveWords only break your heart again
Too late to ever make amends
Lost all your faith and confidence
There's nothing left to say
There's nothing left to say'Cause these are silent times
The words wither away
Just like a flower that dies
There's nothing left to sayAnd these are quiet times
We hide it all away
There's nothing left to save
