Girl in Red

Ragged

This is the moment you've been waiting for,
Its close enough now that you can't hide anymore.
And you will always be that girl in red,
You will always be that girl in red

Well my body starts aching and I lose control, I've gotta get on my way now
It's funny how these things don't always turn out, but i'll take the long way around
And you will always be that girl in red
You will always be that girl in red

The Clock is ticking on this one way road,
Can't seem to find the place that I am looking for
And you will always be that girl in red
You will always be that girl in red

Well my body starts aching and I lose control, I've gotta get on my way now.
It's funny how these things don't always turn out, but i'll take the long way around.
And you will always be that girl in red,
You will always be that girl in red

Losing touch now and I can't bare the thought.
Farewell my dear, I hope you had the time to know,
That you will always be that girl in red,
You will always be that girl in red.

Lyrics Submitted by loren newell

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/