The Beginning

Trouble

See the face in the mirror of your dreams
Emptiness is all that's left
Sadness in your eyes take off your disguise
How much longer can you hide the painTurn around look at what you see
The world is fading away
Sadness is everywhere and living in despair
How much longer can you stand the painThere is a place that lives within our minds
A world of human fantasy
Reach for the stars never look back again
You've got nothing to lose everything to gainFly with me and what you see will be
Look upon your rainbow dream a dream
Don't let it slip away
In your hands lies the birth of a new dayWhen I look into your eyes the world is there for me
And the more I look inside the more there is to see
Sun shines all around me the light knows that I'm free
Make believe I'm everywhere, believe you're here with meIn the beginning, all is forgiven
In the beginning, time to start living
In the beginning, all is forgiven
In the beginning, time to start living, oh yeah
