

Who Will Love Me In Winter

Van Hunt

Send up a smile for me, baby
I say to the rising flame
A dynamic woe blows in with the cold
And brings back the loneliness again Your voice, it haunts my nature
With the words that I used to make you bleed
With one hand and my imagination
I thought I'd never need for anything But my spaceship crashed against the wall
My neighbour's grass ain't so green after all
I wouldn't have a second thought about the fall
But I'm wondering who will love me in winter Delusions of grandeur
Misled my adventurous spirit
Love of the unknown rose like a stone
Above my contentment The autumn leaves fall from the trees
And hold me captive with a dance in the air
And I know with the passing of these
I must find love from somewhere Spaceship crashed against the wall
My neighbour's grass ain't so green after all
I wouldn't have a second thought about the fall
But I'm wondering who will love me in winter
I wouldn't have a thought about the fall
But I'm wondering who will love me in winter Spaceship crashed against the wall
My neighbour's grass ain't so green after all
I wouldn't have a second thought about the fall
But I'm wondering who will love me in winter Spaceship crashed against the wall
My neighbour's grass ain't so green after all
I wouldn't have a second thought about the fall
But I'm wondering who will love me in winter
