

Now

Jessica Andrews

All my life I've waited and I've been afraid
And wondered if I'd find someone to share my life
And everyday I prayed and every night I searched
In every stranger's eye for some kind of sign
Me and my heart wishing in the dark
Trying to believe in a sky full of stars
I was waiting for you, a million empty days
Too much time and space, every tear I cried
Every lonely night, I was waiting for you
Now, here you are
And my world is, my world is so beautiful
Now, here you are
And my life is, my life is so wonderful
Now, the past seems like a dream
Just a vacancy, how did I exist
Before our first kiss? Oh I feel so lucky
Because I know you love me
No one ever has, like no one ever has
Me and my heart wishing in the dark
Trying to believe in a sky full of stars
I was waiting for you all those empty days
All the time and space, every tear I cried
Every lonely night, I was waiting for you
Now, here you are
And my world is, my world is so beautiful
Now, here you are
And my life is, my life is so wonderful
Now, now, here you are
And my world is, my world is so beautiful
Now, here you are
And my life is, my life is so wonderful
Now
