

A Single Explosion

Matthew Good

I dreamed last night of sirens by flashing I had found you you just held my hand
by the bright lights in some ICU even the plan-less have a plan I can't write love songs when I'm on these things I'm affable, responsible, but hard to be around It's correctable, and they're right you know it's as easy as it sounds it's all as easy as it sounds I dreamed last night I saw you a single spark explosion negotiating with the dead
By the bright lights in some ICU
On my chest you put your head and I said...
There you are
There you are
There's my heart
