Isn't It Wild

Du Blonde

(Whether God exists or not, it doesn't make any difference.
The difference is, you've got to go thriugh life believing in somebody or something. You have to have faith in them.
If they let you down, for any reason, well, that's the way it is, and I just take life as it comes... Comes and goes.)Isn't it wild how we laugh and we smile
For the people we love and the people we don't, we deny?Isn't it wild how we fight to define,
What we do day to day, by the way those around us portray?Isn't it wild how we love to indulge
In the sorry ass show of illusion
In order to save us from our social graves?Isn't it wild, in the time that it takes
To learn a lesson we dwell upon making mistakes?Isn't it wild when all's said and done
For all of your friends you're still Left counting on none?Isn't it wild when we come face to face
With the love of our lives and we don't have A damn thing to say?Oh, isn't it wild?
