

Shame on You

Hot Hot Heat

Shame on you for getting wet now who will you dry your eyes Shame on you for getting wet how can you act surprisedRunning with scissors wasnt smart I tripped and cut up in your heart
I didnt mean to but I seemed to have put stress back to the start in the wake of my mistake I felt your walls starting to shake Something couldn't have been worse for me to be this far away, this far awayShame on you for getting wet now who will you dry your eyes Shame on you for getting wet how can you act surprisedTraveled the world under your spell you cast on me in a motel turned my rainclouds into rainbows but I couldnt even tell The days apart turned to weeks, my memory plays Hide and seek When I was playing show and tell I took your trust and set it free, Set it freeShame on you for getting wet now
who will you dry your eyes Shame on you for getting wet how can you act surprisedShame on you for getting wet now who will you dry your eyes
Shame on you for getting wet now who will you dry your eyes
Shame on you for getting wet how can you act surprised[Repeat until end]
Shame on you for getting wet now who will you dry your eyes
Shame on you for getting wet how can you act surprisedRunning with scissors wasnt smart I tripped and cut up
in your heart
I didnt mean to but i seemed to have put stress back to the start
in the wake of my mistake i felt your walls starting to shake Something couldnt have been worse for me to be so far away, this far away

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>