

Poltergeist

Banks

I started all the wars, I started all the wars
I've been getting messages from my deep waters
I'm being a resentful caretaker
Blame me for your false indicators
You're mistaking all my mistakes for my crooked nature Oh my god, I think I saw a ghost
Follow me everywhere I go
Don't even try to get creative
I smell a clown looking goofy, dressed up as a native Won't you come here? You don't even know
Acting like a fool when you roll over
We could go away, you won't even know
Blame me, looking cool smoking on the clover I started all the wars, I started all the wars
I've been getting messages from my deep waters
I'm being a resentful caretaker
Blame me for your false indicators
You're mistaking all my mistakes for my crooked nature Oh my god, I think I saw a ghost
Why you're here walking around on my home street, bothering me?
Got your shoulder, you've been affected
I smell the chemicals, I don't see miracles
I'm at the pinnacle, you're so material
Why don't you get what you need? I started all the wars, I started all the wars
I've been getting messages from my deep waters
I'm being a resentful caretaker
Blame me for your false indicators
You're mistaking all my mistakes for my crooked nature

Songwriters

TIM ANDERSON, JOHN HILL, JILLIAN BANKS Published by

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC, Warner/Chappell Music, Inc. Song Discussions is protected by U.S.
Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>