

Sever

311

Just sever that leash and release
Your freedom of speech, you just have to believe
Your deed will be received somehow somewhere
You won't be repaid with a blank stare let me know if you dare
There's no one that could cure you like she does, she does
No one could leave you so alone
Here I goes my vibe is holy
My eyes closed either I'm asleep
Or what I'm thinking' is deep
Eventually I sigh and kick the sheets
Try to peace together why I'm here
Nothing except my own damn eyes and ears
And then it sever so I listen to my heart
Always and ever if it's not good it might get better
If it's not good it might just sever
I tell you money there's other honey
You always show it but you don't know it
Staring at the door thinking about the mess your in
In your couch sinking deep over the girl that's gone

Just sever that leash and release
Your freedom of speech you just have to believe
Your deed will be received somehow somewhere
You won't be repaid with a blank stare let me know if you dare
Now all you think about her drink about her in vain
But all else feels like you're betrayin'
We're walkin' it up face up and shakin' it up
We know of and extended field
This is the deal we're letting and getting the vibes that we want
Open up your heart and proceed to feel
Now your inchin' up to the summit never plummet
Boot your system up
And then bail with the middle finger up
Why you so abrupt baby don't be corrupt
Standing in the club playin' the wall
That they're not her is all, you think and that is true
But what else can you do trying to turn back time
Or just tow the line 'cuz the space you're in, is no place like home
