

Everyone To Know

Bethany Dillon

Here we go
Let in the light from my window
Say goodbye to my sorrow
And hello new day
My soul needed a rescue
A hero, it had to be You
I know You've changed everything
So I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
I've thrown years away
And every chance to change
It took so much to see my pride
I've thrown punches in the air
Chased after love that wasn't there
I know only You satisfy
I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
To all the brokenhearted
The crippled and the weak
We are all invited to taste and see
To all of those who are searching
Come find what you seek
It is the truth that we all
Truth that we all need
Everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
Yeah, I want everyone to know
Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
Yeah, I want everyone to know

Everyone to know
I want to tell the world about Your love
I want to tell the world about Your love
I want to tell the world about Your love

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>