

Jump Right In

A Summer Better Than Yours

So distract me please Ive been wasting too much time thinking up ^ for lost causes. You had me convinced that I was in too deep, not as shallow as I seem. I cant clear my head long enough for you to fill it up again. This room is spinning. Tell me why cant I wake up from this one. I never saw it coming so please jump right in, I could never shut you out or shut you up long enough to get out until my head caved in. So just wake me please Ive been losing too much sleep chasing after my demons without even lifting a finger. Cough it out till the smoke fills up the house and I cant clear my head long enough for you to fill it up again. This room is spinning and I cant see straight. Somebody tell me, tell me why cant I wake up from this oneTell me why cant I wake up wake up. So distract me please Ive been wasting too much time making up for lost causes. You had me convinced that I was into deep, not as shallow as I seem. I cant clear my head long enough... Tell me why cant I wake up from this one. I never saw it coming so please jump right in.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>