Work Hard, Play Harder

Gretchen Wilson

I work a double-shift on Monday
Tuesday, I get up before dawn
Wednesday, pouring coffee
Thursday night, I'm tending the barWell, when Friday finally rolls around
I call my rough and rowdy friends and we're honky-tonk loudI work hard, I play harder
I'm a good-timin', American daughter
Redneck, blue collar
And I party down to my last dollarI work hard, I work hard, I work hard
I play harderNow, I don't waste my time on Manicures and spray-on tans
And I don't pay no never mind
To the callouses I've worn on my handsYou know that people just can't understand how
I'm the first to clock in but the last to pass outI work hard, I play harder
I'm a good-timin', American daughter
Redneck, blue collar
And I party down to my last dollarI work hard, I work hard, I work hard
I play harder yeah, yeah, yeahI work hard, I play harder
I'm a good-timin', American daughter
Redneck, blue collar
And I party down to my last dollarI work hard, I play harder
I'm a good-timin', American daughter
Redneck, blue collar
And I party down to my last dollarI work hard, I work hard, I work hard
I work hard, I work hard, I work hard
I play harder
