Stitch By Stitch

Javier Colon

Blue and black, heart torn out,
You uncover what's beneath my skin
There and back, there's no doubt, your touch is my medicine
I'll be okay, 'cause you heal me...
And I'll give you all my pieces broken
In your hands, there's nothing that you can't fix
My heart is frayed, my scars are open
So put me back together now, stitch by stitch
Put me back together now, stitch by stitch.
What you say, without words, resuscitates what was numb inside
So repair me, every thread of me, 'cause you're bringing me back to life
I'll be okay, 'cause you heal me...

And I'll give you all my pieces broken
In your hands, there's nothing that you can't fix
My heart is frayed, my scars are open
So put me back together now stitch, by stitch
I'm still afraid of falling, somehow it's takin' over me
Don't ever let me let it go...
There and back, there's no doubt, your touch makes me whole again
And I'll give you all my pieces broken
In your hands there's nothing that you can't fix
My heart is frayed, my scars are open
So put me back together now, stitch by stitch
Put me back together now, stitch by stitch
Put me back together now, stitch by stitch

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/